INSTITUTE FOR COLLABORATIVE WORKING AUSTRALIA - AN OVERVIEW

"Premier organisation… Supporting the development and growth of collaborative working."

MISSION

ICW Australia's goal is to become the premier organisation in Australia supporting the development and growth of collaborative working practices in Australia and globally.

We are a not for profit membership organisation aligned with ICW globally to support the development of the collaborative working community of practice and contribute to the growing of the collaborative working body of knowledge.

OUR FOUR CORE AIMS

- Raising awareness of, and supporting adoption of, collaborative working principles (including ISO 44001 Family of standards) in Australia
- Establishing the premier, independent and trusted organisation for individuals and organisations interested in realising the benefits of collaborative working in Australia
- Developing and supporting the collaborative working community of practice in Australia
- Developing and supporting the growth of the global collaborative working body of knowledge.

RESOURCES

The Institute for Collaborative Working (ICW) offers a range of resources and tools to assist organisations and individuals with implementing collaborative working practices.

RESEARCH PROGRAM

To support and grow the collaborative working body of knowledge in Australia, we are engaging a number of institutions and individuals across the country as a part of our research program.

This program will develop greater understanding of aspects of collaborative working, and role of ISO 44000 set of standards to provide insight to inform its implementation in Australia.

TRAINING

ICW Australia (ICWA) has several targeted training and awareness courses to address every aspect of collaborative working.

This includes the application of ISO 44001- the Collaborative Business Relationship Framework for real world business problems. This suite of courses is continually expanding and can be tailored to meet specific organisational needs.

These can include:

- Collaborative working and ISO 44001 for Practitioners
- Introduction to Collaborative Working Principles
- Insight into ISO 44001
- Introduction to Collaborative Working & ISO 44001
- Collaborative Leaders Course

There may be a substantial discount for organisations that wish to run internal courses. ICWA can work with organisations to develop bespoke courses to address organisational specific circumstances and outcomes. Employees of Executive Network Members are eligible for discounts on ICWA Public Courses.

To find out about upcoming training opportunities, go to www.instituteforcollaborativeworking.com.au please email enquiries@icwaus.com.au

MEMBERSHIP.

ICW Australia has a range of membership options which allow organisations and individuals to join the growing global community of practice and contribute to the expansion of the knowledge and business discipline of collaborative working.

EXECUTIVE NETWORK MEMBERSHIP

Executive network members have priority access to all ICW Australia materials and activities and the opportunity to work with other organisations from different industries to build the practice and knowledge of collaborative working in Australia. ICW executive network members gain recognition of their role in the forefront of developing the practice of collaborative working and supporting the growth of the collaborative working community in Australia and globally. ICW executive network members employees receive discounted access to ICW training and materials, events, and forums.

SBFE MEMBERSHIP

The Small Business and Family Enterprise (SBFE) Membership is available to Australia and New Zealand small businesses and family enterprises. The benefits of this membership include:

- Access to tailored ICW Materials for SBFEs
- Discounts on training courses
- Discounts for participation for employees to all ICW Australia paid events (conferences / round tables)
- Access to the ICW community of practice
- Participation in SBFE Special Interest Group

EXECUTIVE NETWORK MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

- One position on ICW Australia Advisory Council for the duration of membership
- Provision of ICW Australia annual organisational strategy and Annual Executive Members Benefits Realisation Plan
- Access to ICW materials library and online resources (both UK and Australia)
- Participation in all ICW member activities for employees who are otherwise Associate Members or members of ICW
- Discount participation to all ICW Australia-run public training courses (discount rate = 10%)
- Free collaborative working initial needs assessment (1 x program or business unit)
- Discount for participation for employees to all ICW Australia paid events (conferences / round tables)
- Access to ICW Australia tools
- Priority access to ICW Australia Associate network
- Right to identify as an ICW Australia Executive Network Member
- Optional initial assessment on implementation of collaborative working framework and road map to obtaining accreditation in ISO 44001.

INDIVIDUAL

Australian Associate Membership

Individuals can obtain greater access to the ICWA and ICW Global materials and discounts on ICWA activities by becoming an Associate Member – for full details please email enquiries@icwaus.com.au

Full Individual membership

Individual membership of ICW is dependent on the successful completion of the Leaders Course and the related assessment supervised by Warwick University. This is administered centrally from the UK, but ICW Australia will be running the relevant Leaders course from time to time. Individuals may become Associate Members of ICWA through application which also provided for Associate Membership of ICW UK.

To enquire, please go to:
instituteforcollaborativeworking.com.au or enquiries@icwaus.com.au

JOIN THE COMMUNITY

www.instituteforcollaborativeworking.com.au

enquiries@icwaus.com.au

institute-for-collaborative-working-australia