Benefits of Executive Network Membership

ICW Australia seeks to build on the work undertaken in the UK and internationally by ICW UK and create an Australian Corporate Network of key organisations from different industry sectors. Members of this network will be committed to the development of the Australian collaborative working community of practice, contribute to the global Collaborative Working body of knowledge, and support achievement of the practical benefits of adoption of Collaborative Working within their organisations. This mirrors the successful establishment of an Executive Network by ICW UK which has provided significant value to members and to the Collaborative Working Community globally.
